

I Need A New Heart; B'coz This One Hurts

They ask me to move on & forget everything
I can't make them understand; I can't stop loving.
What you are to me, baby, has no defining in my life, you have a hold over every single string.

Time is supposed to cure me & heal the aching ages past you, the pain is still amplifying.
I'm dying, I don't want to be seen admitting all I can say is the following thing

I miss your hugs
and all the comfort.
I need a new Heart
b'coz this one Hurts.

I couldn't save us
my soul had put in efforts.
I need a new Heart
b'coz this one Hurts.

I've hurt you and you have lied too
we were still together, knowing our love was true.
But now you have changed everything you do you act carefree, as if you found something new.

Your face used to match my every dream coming true
I've always imagined my end of time only with you.
You have ended things, I won't beg you to continue Though it doesn't matter now, I want to say a thing or two

Dying without you,

Swirling in the desert
I need a new Heart
b'coz this one Hurts.

I hate this loneliness
and the pain it exerts.
I need a new Heart
b'coz this one Hurts.

To all my questions, you were the prime answer
How do I find a way, without you everything is darker.
We cannot be together, I won't ask you to push harder
I wish you find what you want, in someone better.

In my tedious life, exploring you was an adventure
our love is fading, I don't know how to capture.
I know it's too late & our future is blurred
I just want to pass a message, written in cipher.

I don't blame your decision
this is one of many worsts.
I need a new Heart
b'coz this one Hurts.

We don't know when love blooms
& the peace in it bursts.
I need a new Heart
b'coz this one Hurts.

Nilesh Gutte
MMS