

Sometimes, in your perfectly planned lives, clammers a small thing. A thing, more of a hiccup, you think about it as a mere souvenir of meeting someone, is the thing that unknowingly lets that person trespass the latched doors of loneliness, pain and misery all leading to the sacred part of your heart, you almost forgot exists! A thing, fortunately-unfortunately turns your world upside down, shattering all your plans, leaving you amazed with an ineffable question, - "Why haven't I felt this way before? Was I even alive?"

The answer to which upgrades you to a transcendental feeling. It's a thing, beyond the grasping ability of the accustomed mind, which bestows you with powers unconquerable, feelings irrecoverable and guts audaciously adventurous! It's a thing which, with pain and tears, will tear you apart but it's the very same thing, which will bring peace to your soul! It's a thing, which seeks us pleasure even from the pain it brings with it! It's a thing, which makes our lives worthwhile! It's a thing above all other things. It's a thing called LOVE!

Nilesh Gutte

MMS