

*She was a girl who feared to speak;
Before others her nervousness was at its peak;
She thought she couldn't, she is weak;
A girl in one corner, perfectly meek.*

*She just wanted to overcome her fear;
This dream however seemed nowhere near;
She never lost hope, her vision was clear;
Her small journey to success began here.*

*Confident she seemed, all set, no threat,
It was the day when her goals were met,
She couldn't have guessed how proud she would get,
For other challenges she now feels set.*

*Never give up, is what she learnt;
Surrounded by fire, her confidence never burnt;
Her thoughts were limited, but her dreams weren't,
She knew how to flow with the current.*

*Vishakha Jain
MMS*