

GIVE UP

You can never see her smile,
You can never see her glow,
For you cannot stay,
You must go.

Her lips, her eyes, her brow,
You must forget them somehow,
Forget that morn, forget that eve,
For you cannot stay, you must leave.

She was never yours to love,
She was never yours to touch,
She has moved on from you now,
For you could only give her so much.

And if it's any solace,
Remember this as you go,
She's happy as happy can be
And that's all you need to know.
